THE STALLION"SCOTLAND."

How much the name has to do with it we cannot say, but certainly, go where you will, no stallion can be found with the magnificent contour of form, free and easy action when called upon, or fine trotting gait, if urged, equal to the stallion of above name, bred and owned by Mr. Battell of Middlebury.

Mr. Battell keeps here four stallions, all of them valuable and all young; but none of them equal to the one first mentioned, which, so far as we know, every one who has seen, without hesitation, declares to be the handsomest horse in the World. No exceptions are admitted.

But, perhaps, better than this is the fact that his first colts, only two years of age, and of which there are but three, excel equally in their ability to trot.

Scotland has a full brother of about the same size that perhaps may equal Scotland's gait, but cannot surpass that of his colts.
